A glimpse of travel and quarantine in Hong Kong

Lalitha Mary John

The pandemic has brought us many firsts viz. social distancing, online celebrations and even online funerals. I have visited Hong Kong several times since my daughter lives there. Hong Kong has one of the strictest travel and quarantine regulations in the world. Currently, to enter Hong Kong, you need a valid visa, a negative RTPCR prior to travel, a recognised vaccination certificate and a 21 day hotel quarantine. After landing in Hong Kong and after a thorough scrutiny of my documents including a negative covid test report, I was whisked to my designated hotel for a 21 day quarantine.

In my mind I had resigned myself to a prison life for 21 days. However, things were not as bad as I expected it to be. My room had a great view of the Shenzhen Bay. The hotel provided all the amenities needed for a comfortable stay. I was not allowed to go out of the room for anything nor was anyone allowed to enter the room. Every alternate day the health department would test me for Covid.

I read, attended Bible studies online and spent time talking to family and friends. It was hard to believe that I had completed 21 days in isolation. I did not meet or speak to anyone in person but my phone was a big blessing.

Recently, I attended a church women's gathering online where we were asked "the pandemic has brought you many trials but what is a positive experience that you have had during this time?". As I reflect on this question, I feel blessed to have had the opportunity to study the Word of God and grow in my faith, through the online bible study groups. Praise and glory to God for everything. Amen.

Hydroponics

Sourced by Mercy Itty

Do you know the magic of growing plants without soil ?

Hydroponic technology is a niche method of food production that allows producers to grow plants without soil. It is an incredible technique suited to urban farming.

Hydroponics has the potential to sustain a large proportion of the world's population and to allow third world countries to feed their own people, even in places where soil is poor and water and space is scarce.

The progression of hydroponic technology since Gericke first promoted the idea in the late 1920s. has made soilless farming possible within urban environments and effective in addressing the issue of sustainable food .

It also eliminates the carbon footprint generated through the transport of food from rural areas to city centres.

The principal advantage is the saving of labour by automatic watering and fertilizing. Climate is not a factor, and they have significantly fewer pests. The disadvantages are high installation costs and the need to test the solution frequently.

Hydroponic crops are allowed to be certified as organic in many places, including in the United States. Critics have pointed out that hydroponic plants lack interaction with a soil microbiome and have argued that soil health is a critical part of the organic farming movement.

Tribute

⇒ Vaidya Joseph Kale, sister of Vanita Narvekar, Byculla Area member passed away on 5th April.

⇒ In memory of ex-General Secretary (1993-1997), Padmini Caroline Kumar.

Padmini joined YWCA of Bombay in 1993, when Marie Abraham was the President. That was the time the Board had taken the decision of bringing down the Andheri building. Marie took the bold decision but was at a loss as we did not have a GS. After requesting the National Association for help, GS, Sadana Ganguli sent Padmini, who was then working as Membership Director at Delhi Y.

She worked sincerely, prepared all the project reports, organized fund-raising programmes, involving members from all the areas. With Shanta John as the President from 1994-96, Sara Philip, the Fund Raising Chairperson and Padmini as the GS they were able to raise Rs.3 Crores for the Andheri project. Her untiring work got us the 35AC certificate (100% Tax exemption for donations received). The Norwegian Embassy Rs.1 Crore Donation was received through Mrs. Usha Narayanan, wife of ex-President of India, who knew Padmini well from Delhi Y days. Padmini was a bridge between the members and staff. She encouraged every one to make use of their talents and rise up to any occasion. The staff no matter which department they were pitched, worked like one big family, overtime was never mentioned by anyone. That was the good spirit at the Y. The Foundation stone was laid by Mrs. Usha Narayanan and the dedication service was conducted by Bishop Joshua in November 1995.

World YWCA Centenary celebrations took place in October 1994 at St. Thomas Cathedral where Governor P. C. Alexander and many dignitaries were present. Padmini's "minute to minute" programme planning was introduced to us which she executed perfectly.

She was always with the families of members or staff who were going through difficult days. When Sara Philip lost her husband she was at her house with some staff, with sheets of hymns and sang and read from the Bible continuously. Sara Philip was consoled that the Y family was with her. When Miriam Kanga had her 1st stroke and was at Bombay Hospital, Padmini was there at her side. She saw to it that one young staff stayed with Miriam all the time. Such was her commitment.

Padmini had been blessed with many talents which she made use of to the maximum...this year she made a Biblical calendar and distributed it to many friends....she was taken into glory on 15th April at the age of 68.

Sweet Notings
Sharon Pires

“A holiday is an opportunity to journey within, a chance to chill, to relax, to switch on my rest mode, to make memories” – Prabhas

Our lives are always busy with something to do. For most of us we sleep late, rise early, and are on the go. The pandemic did slow things down, but never gave us that much-needed break, what with all the tension of health issues, work from home, job and other stresses.

Schools have a summer break at the end of an academic year to help students rejuvenate before the next one begins. Working parents take their annual leave to coincide with their children’s vacations. Homemakers, who work tirelessly looking after the needs of the entire family, they too deserve time to relax.

Holidays – a time to connect with family and friends – parents, grandparents and children and to discover yourself. I remember our summer vacations, a trip to the village to experience nature’s bounty, transported away from the chaotic city life – the relaxed atmosphere, the slow pace and serenity of the surroundings, the perfect place to rejuvenate the soul and relax the body. No alarms, no urgent phone calls, no meetings, no deadlines – just a peaceful existence. Wholesome eating, simple living, at home with nature, interacting with our loved ones for whom we cannot seem to make enough time for otherwise ... creating beautiful moments of togetherness that make for lasting memories.

Connect and Create!
Happy Holidays everyone!

Her husband was an alcoholic and a drug addict. In 2013, she got to know about YWCA where she met Sulbha Gopane (PSW) and asked for help. Through Aasra and the local police station, YWCA could get her matter settled. Sulbha encouraged her to complete her education from YCMOU which she did and graduated while simultaneously doing the tailoring and beautician courses.
